

ARKTIKA

post-rock/sludge band from Germany

Arktika is a post-rock-band from Cologne, Germany. Their sound can be described as post-rock, post-core or sludge and most of their songs reach the ten-minute-mark.

Arktika was founded in 2008. They have released a two-song-12" - LP called „heartwrencher“ in 2009 and a double-12" -LP called „at zero“ in 2010 through the German label Narshardaa Records. Both LPs were recorded at „Tonmeisterei-Studios“ in Oldenburg, Germany. Arktika has played shows with bands like Envy (jp), This Will Destroy You, Constants and Caspian. Arktika was named after the russian icebreaker class, the Arktika-class.

On November 4th, 2011 Arktika released its first official video: „a fire to everything“ done by the amazing Philipp Seefeld. Watch it here:

MEMBERS:

Marc (vocals), Jürgen (guitars), Felix (bass), Tim (guitars) and Jürgen (drums).

Shortly after the recordings of the second album „at zero“ Jan left the band due to personal reasons. Felix joined the band only some weeks later.
